Forecast for Tuesday 15 Jun 2021

Weather: Mainly dry overnight but remaining cloudy. A dry and bright morning with some sunny intervals. Cloud will spread in from the west and thicken enough to give some light and patchy rain at times by early afternoon. Rain will become heavy and persistent for a time there may be drier spells too during the evening.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 800m: 90% the morning, tops mostly clear overnight and during the morning, reducing to 40% later as some low cloud develops associated with rainfall.

Visibility: Good visibility with far reaching views in the morning but patches of cloud will fall to around 600m by late morning becoming more broken in the afternoon, especially around western ranges. Generally tops will have less low cloud in the far north and eastern ranges.
